

Conversations about Clean Air

Conversations about Clean Air

Monday, May 10

8:30 am – 11:30 am

Loosemore Auditorium

Pew Campus in Grand Rapids

Grand Valley State University

401 W. Fulton

Downtown Grand Rapids

Parking available at Front

and Watson Lots

A public forum on Ozone Nonattainment

Windborne pollution from Chicago and Milwaukee may soon have a profound impact on life in West Michigan. Changes in how smog and ozone pollution is measured in our area will have a tremendous impact on individuals and businesses throughout the region.

Find out more at a public forum sponsored by Grand Valley State University's Public Policy Institute. You'll hear a broad spectrum of viewpoints on the issue, and even have an opportunity to ask questions of a panel of experts. If you're interested in the environment, public health, or economic development, don't miss this timely and insightful discussion. For more information, call (616) 331-7180 or visit www.gvsu.edu/ce then click the link to Conversations about Clean Air.

Panel One 8:40am – 9:50am

Regulatory Issues and Perspectives

Featuring:

Congressman Vernon J. Ehlers

State Senator Patricia Berkholz

John Mooney, Environmental Protection Agency

Vince Hellwig, Michigan Department of Environmental Quality

Panel Two 10:15am – 11:15am

The Impact on our Community

Featuring:

West Michigan Environmental Action Council

Consumers Energy Corp.

American Lung Association

Grand Rapids Chamber of Commerce

Grand Valley Metro Council

GRAND VALLEY
STATE UNIVERSITY

www.gvsu.edu/ce